

Year 6

In Year 6, we have been reading R.J. Palacio's incredible novel, Wonder. We have thoroughly enjoyed learning about the new characters and exploring the interesting themes that run through the text. We have also written some fantastic informal letters from the perspective of Jack Will (a character) to August (another character from the book).

Informal Letter to August, written by Mary (Year 6)

Hey Auggie,
What's up?

I am writing to express my apologies for the rude things I said. I just wanted to fit in with Julian and the popular crew, man. Now I realised what they are: total jerks.

Don't get mad at the person who clued me in, Ok. I was so, like soo confused at why all of a sudden you had ditched me.

Oh, I kinda messed up. And you know, the thought that made me figure it out, was like, totally funny. We were in science with Rubin and she mentioned the next project, so I completely zoned out.

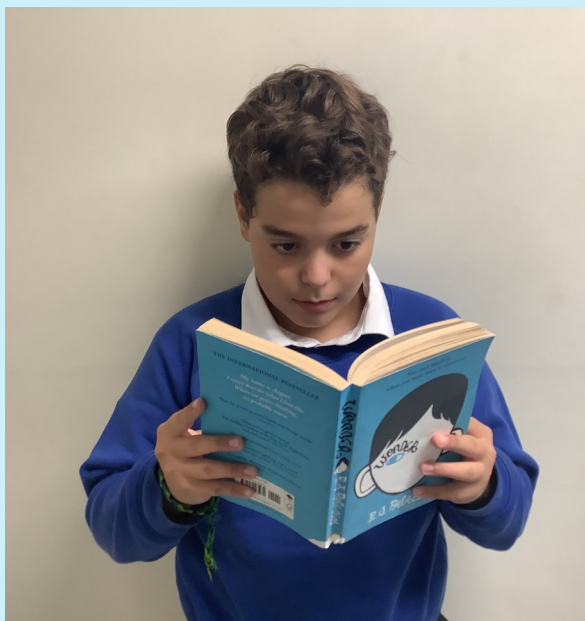

We, like just finished our Egyptian one. Oh, man. Then I started thinking about dead mummies sleepwalking and my brain clicked in place. Bleeding Scream.

Oh, and don't be mad at the person who helped me. I asked her at the Egypt fair when she was with me at the fountain and you were showing your mum the projects.

I gotta admit, I really did miss you. All the time I spent with the cool crew helped me realise they really aren't as nice as I thought they were. They may seem great, but if all the boys in our grade stood up against a wall and I got to pick who I got to hang out with, I'd choose you, mate.

I'm really sorry for what I said. I shouldn't have said that, even to fit in. Please be my friend again. You're the funniest, smartest kid in class and I think you're the cool one.

See you around,
Jack Will

Black History Month Class Display Boards

For Black History Month, our classes spent time learning different BHM topics in class. They created display boards to explain the different topics they learnt.

Autumn Time

Poem by Martha &
Darasimi
(Year 4)

The wind is playing autumn games, through the garden and the lanes
Picking up and twirling round, leaves of orange, red and brown.

Going through each swaying tree, tossing apples until their free
Shaking trees until the concurs drop, and open up prickly pop.

The wind is dancing full of fun, through the leaves I am going to run.
It tumbles acorns, fir cones and leaves, to make a carpet under trees.
